I. BELLWEATHER DEEPDIVE: JUDGEFARE VERSUS AMERICA

By STAFF

“When we removed our country’s corrupt judges, we faced a strong backlash from the so-called ‘international community,’ including the Biden administration. We did it anyway, because it was the only way to save our country.” - El Salvadoran President Nayib Bukele

INTRODUCTION

ED. NOTE: We want to offer this caveat; Not ALL rulings against Trump are unjust progressive rulings, even from progressive judges. President Trump himself is a precedent breaker and sometimes he breaks Americanist standards himself. He also has a bad track record picking competent prosecuting attorneys, which has also empowered progressive judges to easily halt prosecutions of progressives.

This month’s bellwether could have been Iran because it is certainly the biggest story of the month. We recently did a report on Iran in our March 13, 2026, issue of MIA. While plenty has happened since then, the fundamental state of the war hasn’t. You can read an analysis of the current state of the war in our Situation Report for this month on page xx.

The Iran War remains THE bellwether story for global geopolitics, but at home, the emerging bellwether story is about the growing divisions between the progressive judiciary and the conservative executive. Acts by the progressive judiciary appear to be attempts to expand their powers until they become the de facto policy makers of the executive branch.

Mindful Intelligence Advisor is a monthly analysis of economic, monetary, and geopolitical developments on a global scale and their domino effect on our country, free enterprise system, families, and finances. It is explicitly Christian, conservative, and free-market in its perspective. Information contained herein has been carefully selected from sourced believed reliable, but absolutely accuracy cannot be guaranteed.

They might do this through direct orders or through selective ethics violations charges of those who dissent from the progressive program.

Recent rulings by what we would classify as progressive activist judges have only widened the divide between the conservative executive and the progressive judiciary.

We believe the judiciary is mostly controlled by progressives, directly through progressive activist judges and indirectly through bar associations, law schools, and other judicial enforcement institutions. This control is not absolute, nor are the progressive activist judges always in agreement with one another.

Their values, as a whole, are unique to their people, and alien to Americans, for they rest on the assumption that the social usurps the individual and social status usurps American rule of law. When it comes to “rights,” they tend to favor the weak individual over the social strong, but the social weak to the individual strong (at least their perceptions of the people who fit those categories).

A white middle-class American will be assumed to have less rights expectations than a non-white middle-class American because of the status of the group they belong to, the white middle class.

Equality will matter when it comes to limiting the rights of the strong against the weak, while individual liberty will matter when it comes to limiting the power of the strong and protecting the rights of the weak.

Remember, “the strong” is assessed according to the progressive hierarchy, not an Americanist one. A poor white orphan is in “the strong” category while a black middle class college student with loving parents is in the “weak” or “protected” category.

These are the values that drive these judges, and this is what makes them a consensual participant in what we see as a deliberate act to replace Americanist values in our courts with Progressive values, not through amendment changes properly ratified, but through sophistry executed by progressive judges.

We call this part of the progressive revolutionary war machine, Judgefare, the use of judges and the judiciary to stifle dissent and complete the transition from “Progmerica” to the Progressive U.S., now free to openly practice progressive values and bury Americanist values once and for all.

They will no longer be required to use American terms. They will no longer be required to act with restraint until they have more power. They will be free to be what they’ve always been, anti-American, Progressive.

In this report, we’ll highlight the recent rulings that triggered this analysis, we’ll spell out the Judgefare plan, the use of bar associations in this war against the republic, the SCOTUS defense of Judgefare, how the pushback has begun, and finally what might come next in the war between the progressive judiciary and the conservative executive.

A. RECENT RULINGS

A recent slate of decisions has come down from the courts that overwhelmingly rules against President Trump’s actions. While the 1st U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has delivered a victory to President Trump, allowing the deportation of illegals to third countries to continue, and the 8th Circuit has now allowed illegal alien detention without bond, they would be the only favorable ruling from the progressive-dominated judiciary.

Mostly Biden-appointed Judges have shut down numerous major Trump policies, including freezing federal funding, shutting down Voice of America, halting DEI investigations of progressive schools, stopping ICE detention facilities from opening, and even more.

Here are details of three examples from this month alone:

1. PROTECTING “WOKE” ANTHROPIC - U.S. District Judge Rita Lin has issued a ruling that prevents President Trump from ordering the Pentagon to sever ties with the AI company, Anthropic. The Trump administration has determined Anthropic’s governance standards are not aligned with America’s standards.

The Federal judge has essentially ruled she knows better than Trump if Anthropic is aligned or not aligned with American standards. She said in her ruling, “Defendants’ designation of Anthropic as a ‘supply chain risk’ is likely both contrary to law and arbitrary and capricious.”

2. DEI PROTECTION - U.S. District Judge F. Dennis Saylor has ruled the Department of Education cannot receive student admission data from colleges and universities. The Department was seeking information on race, gender, standardized test scores, and GPAs of applicants. The data would be collected and reviewed in a way that does not expose student IDs.

The data is needed to determine whether colleges and universities are complying with a SCOTUS order ending affirmative action in college admissions. The ruling will be appealed. The lawsuit was initiated by 17 Progressive states. We believe they are seeking to protect their Progressive institutions from an American plumb line.

3. ICE STAND DOWN - A progressive activist judge has made another questionable ruling that seems as if it is intended to prevent ICE officers from effectively protecting their facilities from “protesters.”

Progressive judge Michael Simon has ruled that officers cannot use non-lethal means of crowd dispersal or control unless the crowd poses an “imminent threat of physical harm.” Non-lethal crowd control is a means of preventing protests from becoming riots.

This ruling effectively assures violence will happen at ICE facilities as ICE officers will only be able to respond AFTER the escalation has gotten out of control, meaning lethal force will be required.

This is exactly what they want, ICE officers killing protesters, who will all be portrayed by the progressive media as choir boys and girls that didn't do no harm...all with children and mothers and fathers...

Judge Simon is married to a militant anti-ICE Progressive, Congresswoman Suzanne Bonamici. That fact was not enough to warrant his removal from this case, because the decision makers are all Progressives themselves, so no action was taken against what seems to be a clear violation of constitutional standards.

Fortunately, a recent 9th circuit ruling has reversed this decision.

B. THE PLAN

1. THE CONFERENCE - In July 2025, we covered a Judicial conference in Washington, D.C. that, in part, telegraphed the plan by the judiciary to assure its power was not usurped by an aggressive executive.

We reported at the time: In another blow to the perception of Rule of Law, The Federalist has discovered a memo that reveals a D.C. Judicial Conference in March turned into a cabal to undermine President Trump. The conference introduced inherent biases into their judgments before a case ever came before them.

At the center of the cabal is Chief Justice John Roberts and Judicial Supremacist D.C. Circuit Judge James Boasberg. The latter, Boasberg, would be the one who said the quiet parts out loud.

From the memorandum obtained by The Federalist, “... District of Columbia Chief Judge James Boasberg next raised his colleagues' concerns that the Administration would disregard rulings of federal courts leading to a constitutional crisis.”

2. THE JUSTIFICATION - Progressives fundamentally believe conventional Americanist views, like being against abortion, or viewing homosexuality as a sin, or not believing in government welfare program efficacy, or being in favor of gun possession, are dog whistles of white supremacy. This is a view we believe is either shared or accepted by progressive activist judges.

ED. NOTE: It is not anti-American to believe in abortion, celebrate homosexuality, or believe in government welfare programs. It IS anti-American to be against your neighbor's right to basic self-defense, which MUST include the right to bear arms.

*It is also anti-American to try to create a corporate-state governance standard that unpersons people with these anti-progressive views.

Through this ideology, progressive activist judges can view their trampling of the constitution as a better outcome than empowering evil to take over the land.

Nothing signals this better than a recent editorial in a progressive information war machine, The Nation. The title says it all, “Why Does the Supreme Court Treat Trump Like a ‘Regular’ President?”

The writer, Ellie Mystal, captures the depth of the delusion of the progressive and the nature of the war they think they are fighting. That war is a winner-take-all war, and the enemy, anyone not progressive, is literally the devil who, if he wins, WILL KILL US ALL.

She claims, “The Donald Trump who exists in the real world—the racist, fascist sexual predator who happily tweets out the illegal and unconstitutional motivations for his policies—does not exist according to the Supreme Court. Instead, the court has invented a different Trump, one who does not speak, does not lie, and adheres to the well-established norms regarding the use of executive power. It has dreamed up a normal US president, grafted this creation onto Trump's legal filings, and then ruled as if this fiction were reality.”

3. THE EXPANSION - Not only do progressive have progressive activist judges willing to subvert Americanist standards using sophistry as their dissecting tool, but they are also working to train progressive activist jurists to further subvert Americanist standards and undermine the republic by destabilizing its judiciary.

RedState reported:

A left-wing activist network is training liberals how to slip onto juries in federal cases and then vote “not guilty” to derail prosecutions brought by the Trump Justice Department.

*Recordings and training materials tied to the group Freedom Trainers show activists being coached on how to conceal their left-wing views during jury selection and then use jury nullification once they are seated on a jury. The webinars, slide decks, and pamphlets behind the effort all push the same approach: Blend in during selection, say the right things to get seated, and use the jury room to block convictions.

*The premise is straightforward. Look like any other potential juror, avoid signaling their radical political agenda, and make it through voir dire, the jury selection process, without raising suspicion. Once deliberations begin, however, the guidance shifts sharply.

The method of moving into an Americanist institution and corrupting it from within is perfectly encapsulated in this jury nullification technique.

Jury nullification in and of itself is a fine American tradition when it is used to challenge unconstitutional laws, but it is deliberate insurrection when done to fundamentally derail the whole American judiciary altogether.

It is only fitting that the Progressives would use a tool created to serve Americans and turn it into a bludgeon against the host nation they fed off until the time was right to assert their own nationhood, freed from Americanist trappings. This is exactly what the progressive “jurist” does once we let them inside the jury room, inside our American institutions.

C. THE BELLWETHER BOASBERG

James Emanuel “Jeb” Boasberg is the current Chief Judge of the United States District of Columbia. He was appointed to this position by former President Barack Obama in 2011. In 2014, Boasberg became a presiding judge in the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court (FISC). On January 1, 2020, he became the presiding Judge of the court. He served on the FISC court in 2021 and still has some involvement with the court.

He represents the quintessential Judgefare Judge, the judge who assumes the most judicial authority he possibly can. He could be viewed as the Charles II of the Judiciary. Charles II wanted the English crown to follow the French model, the model of absolute power for Kings.

Boasberg’s judicial history is FILLED with unprecedented claims of judicial authority, the very authority the progressives needed to consolidate power when Trump was out of office and prevent a long-term loss of power while Trump is in office.

Boasberg may yet warrant a full report on his own in the future, should events warrant it (and that looks increasingly more likely, but not inevitable).

Here are a few of his most impactful cases to illustrate what we mean when we claim Boasberg is a judicial absolutist. Let the reader decide for themselves if these actions match that assertion.

1. THE “DUTY OF CANDOR” - 2019 - When Boasberg determined the FBI had “breached its duty of candor” in the Crossfire Hurricane investigation, he ordered the FBI to provide for the court a detailed explanation of how the FBI would assure there would be no more errors in their investigative reports.

The ruling was called “unprecedented.” It was an assertion of judicial authority that hadn’t been claimed before.

2. BANNING AGENTS FROM FISC COURT - 2020 - Boasberg issued a strict conduct order that banned the FBI agents who handled the Carter Page applications in the Crossfire Hurricane Report from ever participating in the FISC court again. Once again, the ruling was called “unprecedented.” It was an assertion of judicial authority that hadn’t been claimed before.

3. THE VENEZUELA RULINGS - These rulings could merit their own lengthy analysis as they serve as a Bellwether for judicial absolutist sophistry that will help Americans understand the nature of the opposition to their republic (and Boasberg most assuredly is no friend of Americanist standards).

The most startling ruling was Boasberg’s order to turn a plane around that was already on its way to deport Venezuelans. From this, Boasberg has sought to charge Trump officials with contempt of court. SCOTUS chose to somewhat hem him in, but not entirely, and the constitutionality of Boasberg’s actions remains unsettled.

These rulings were “unprecedented,” and they asserted judicial authority that hadn’t been claimed before. Like we said, Boasberg is the ideal Judgefare Judge for the progressive revolutionary cause.

D. BARFARE

Ben Weingarten, writing for The Federalist, summarized “barfare” in his report on the latest use of this political weapon to target another political opponent. He wrote, “By making life hell for conservative counselors, by hitting them with such complaints, the idea is to pick such legal talent off the playing field — while spooking others who might otherwise enter it — and thereby eliminate the left’s legal opposition.”

Barfare is the use of bar associations to bring frivolous, dubious, and outright false charges against non-Progressive government attorneys, as well as any defense attorney who might represent them. They mostly target attorneys who aggressively advance policies the progressives oppose.

The latest victim of Barfare appears to be U.S. Pardon Attorney Ed Martin, who allegedly violated ethical standards by enforcing President Trump’s constitutionally approved executive order ending DEI practices in government-funded schools. Martin now faces ethics violations charges by the bar authority in D.C. (the DC Disciplinary Counsel), the very authority he had been questioning and working to begin investigating.

Another victim of this barfare association was Jeff Clark, a former regulatory officer in the Trump administration. He said of the latest barfare assault on Martin, “Lawfare/Barfare is alive & well. Apparently, DC’s Disciplinary Counsel cares not that 1) DEI is an unconstitutional violation of equal protection of the laws; & 2) the President had issued an executive order banning it if an institution takes federal money. Blatantly political.”

The Trump administration is fighting back against this, which we’ll cover in the PUSHBACK section of this report.

E. SCOTUS PROTECTION

We wrote this news blurb on March 19, 2025. It encapsulates both SCOTUS' protection of progressive activism in the judiciary and also Judge Boasberg, our bellwether progressive activist judge:

Chief Justice John Roberts injected himself into matters not directly in front of his court in defense of a district judge being threatened with impeachment for ruling against President Trump's deportation operation decisions. Specifically, the district court judge ruled that a paneload of Venezuelan convicted felons should be immediately returned.

Chief Roberts wrote, "For more than two centuries, it has been established that impeachment is not an appropriate response to disagreement concerning a judicial decision. The normal appellate review process exists for that purpose."

It should be noted Roberts didn't say it was illegal, only that it was "not an appropriate response." His argument is for precedent, while the argument itself is in defense of a man who has demonstrated a dangerous lack of restraint regarding that same guiding judicial standard, "precedent."

After Roberts' missive, Representative Brandon Gill (R-TX) introduced articles of impeachment against that same federal judge, U.S. District Court Judge James Boasberg. He is the same judge that gave tough sentences to convicted j6 protestors while giving alleged FBI plant Ray Eppes a lenient sentence.

A year later, there has been no substantive move against Boasberg's "unprecedented" rulings, and John Roberts is still defending Boasberg from attacks.

Roberts took a public stance against the outrage being directed at progressive judges in general, saying "You see, from all over ... [there's] not just any one political perspective on it, that it's more directed in a personal way, and that, frankly, can be actually quite dangerous. Judges around the country work very hard to get it right, and if they don't, their opinions are subject to criticism. But personally directed hostility is dangerous, and it's got to stop."

Critics responded that had SCOTUS reined in rogue progressive activist judges who demonstrate repeatedly legal standards inconsistent with Americanist standards, the "rhetoric" he called dangerous would end, for it is only "dangerous" if it is inaccurate, not if it is true. It would be dangerous to try to chill such speech, as Roberts appears to be doing.

His public action also signals to lawyers in the executive what little protection they have against rogue progressive judges and the associations they control (such as the bar associations).

F. THE PUSHBACK

Starting from the top, there has been increasing pushback against progressive activist judges. The Trump administration itself is finally pushing back against the barfare assault on non-progressive executive legal officers and advocates.

The administration's DOJ has proposed a rule change to curb barfare's power: The Department of Justice proposes to establish a process for reviewing bar complaints and allegations against its attorneys.

Under the proposed rule, before a current or former Department lawyer may participate in any investigative steps initiated by the bar disciplinary authority of a State, Territory, or the District of Columbia in response to allegations that a current or former Department attorney violated an ethics rule while engaging in that attorney's federal duties, the Department will have the right to review the allegations in the first instance and shall request that the bar disciplinary authority suspend any parallel investigations until the completion of the Department's review.

This would provide a major impediment to the progressive association's power to impede oppositional policy through selective and overreaching ethics violations charges that diminishes executive power while creating a de facto policymaking tool for progressive activist judiciary supremacists to wield arbitrarily (as it has been in recent years).

Outside of Trump's increasing willingness to characterize progressive activist judges as being something approaching insurrectionist, no other substantive action has been taken by the administration to curb progressive activist judiciary supremacist power.

The more the judiciary's power grows, the more American liberty is threatened by progressive courts that not only no longer recognize American rights, they also actively work to subvert them (when and where they can).

At the local level, police departments are defying judicial orders. In one case, the Las Vegas Police Department refused to release a serial violent criminal despite another criminal-enabling ruling by a progressive activist judge, who sought to release the criminal despite his violent and police-evading past.

In another instance, the Riverside County Sheriff's office seized 650,000 ballots from a November 2025 election, alleging there were thousands more ballots cast than there were eligible voters. While the Progressive Activist DA has attempted to stop the investigation, the sheriff's department, so far, has refused to comply, claiming the DA has no authority in the matter. The DA has made the same claim about them.

PREDICTIVE ANALYSIS

While rank-and-file conservatives seem to recognize the existential threat that a progressive activist judiciary poses to the American republic, elected Republicans have mostly refused to go beyond challenging their constitutionality. So far, every effort to censure or impeach a progressive activist judge by congress has ended in failure.

President Trump has no real power to blunt the judiciary outside of replacing it, and even then, he would not replace the progressive activists still dominating legal institutions, like bar associations and law schools.

The executive could have some power to check the power of progressive-controlled institutions, especially with a conservative court. We doubt, however, that a conservative court would give the executive as much power as it might need to remove the progressive threat from her American womb.

Furthermore, the GOP-majority Senate has been sitting on new judicial appointees by the Trump administration since his 2nd term began, even though the GOP allowed the Democrats to rush through a slate of Biden judges near the end of his term. Many of those same judges are leading the Judgefare assault on the American republic.

More and more, we suspect President Trump is looking to preserve anti-American power, like judicial overreach, for what he presumes will be the next regime in power, the faction we are loosely simply referring to as the “conservatives” (see our Final Thought on pg. 27 for more on what “conservative” means in this context).

He isn't existentially threatening progressive power, even as he seems willing to existentially threaten globalist power. At home, he has far more patience with the Democrat Party than he does the globalists of Europe. But he also has far more patience with China than he does some Republicans within his own party.

He seems to be far more pragmatic than idealist, and far less concerned with preserving and restoring American rights than with preserving American geopolitical and economic power.

For this reason, we doubt the Judgefare assault will change anytime soon. If anything, it will only get worse, until one ruling is so far beyond the pale, failure to act will immediately undermine the whole Federal government's legitimacy as a representative of an American republic.

This is not to say such a ruling is inevitable, but only that it will take a rash decision made in anger by a narcissistic progressive activist judge that critically affects American security to compel the President to act in a substantive way to remove progressives from the courts altogether.

We do not think such a ruling is likely before the general election this year. If the polls start to turn on the Democrats, the likelihood of such a ruling increase before the election. If the Democrats win both the House and the Senate, expect activist judges to file contempt charges against Trump officials for a myriad of “reasons.”

President Trump does not appear to have the real stomach for the existential fight he would trigger if he moved as aggressively against the activist judges as the El Salvadorans did when reclaiming their country from another parasitical faction, the cartels, natural allies of progressives.

Trump would need a smoking gun to act, like a video recording of activist judges conspiring to undermine Trump policies knowingly using “word games” to invent legal standards on the fly so they can effectively contain and eventually destroy the evil that is Trump

This smoking gun video, or evidence like it, is not likely to come out anytime soon. Until it does, expect the Trump policies to slowly wind down, and some to get reversed, as activist judges will only be emboldened by the lack of decisive action from the Trump administration and the GOP's congressional leadership.

SCOTUS is divided into three camps, the progressives, the Americanists, and the pragmatists. There are three members in each camp. So long as the court has a minority of Americans, but also a minority of progressives, expect some checks on progressive power to continue, but hardly decisively.

The continued allowance of lower court serial constitutional abuse and overreach by SCOTUS will also add to the emboldening of more clearly unconstitutional rulings in the name of stopping the devil, Donald Trump.

We will continue to watch our bellwether Judgefare judge, James Boasberg, as well as all the other Judgefare judges plotting deconstruction of American Rule of Law in the name of stopping Hitler (Trump) even as we close this report.

Let us pray a smoking gun is delivered that allows the President to act decisively to end the progressive activist threat within our judiciary.

II. SITUATION REPORT

MARCH 2026

By STAFF

“This month has seen the quiet advance of the new reality of power, one framed around AI infrastructure and need. While we see parts of it emerging, and some of the new battles begin to emerge as well, the old battles are still raging, concealing what’s emerging beneath our very feet.” - MIA

INTRODUCTION

This is not a full analysis of world events, but rather an analysis of bellwether events, regions, trends, and countries that tell the overarching story of the world in March 2026.

Our analysis is from an Americanist perspective, nested within our Christian belief system.

This month, America saw congress continue to ignore public support for the SAVE Act, the start of a war with Iran, an economy sending mixed signals (with increasingly bad ones), and a surging Democrat Party.

American courts have been delivering major victories against progressive woke policies while also delivering major impediments to the Trump administration’s agenda (which you can read more about in our Bellwether Deepdive on pg. 2).

Democrat-held states have only been doubling down on progressive woke policies, with California continuing to lead the way.

The Progressive-Muslim experiment in New York continues, with Mamdani seeking to aggressively establish Islam as the socially preferred religion of the city.

While he builds power locally, he makes the Islamist invasion and takeover strategy more apparent as well, which could ultimately bring more resistance to Islamism than it will win converts.

The geopolitical landscape is murkier than it was last month, with the west increasingly wavering in its support from the U.S., while America gains new allies closer to home in Venezuela, and in the Middle East through the Iran War.

A. AMERICA

1. 2026 ELECTION - The progressives appear poised for a strong midterm showing if trends continue to follow as they have. They lead the polls and now their funding is returning as well. They scored a stunning state election victory in President Trump’s own district, flipping a red seat to a blue one.

On the gerrymandering front, Virginia polls suggest the progressives might lose there, but Colorado, a progressive-controlled state, hopes to liquidate three GOP House seats in its gerrymandering efforts.

The progressives have been selling themselves as better economists, as defenders of abortion, and protectors against white supremacism. That combination has been working among Americans because the anti-American nature of the progressives is not plainly seen by these same Americans.

The lack of American political parties to offer Americans some of the cultural and economic choices the progressives offer, without also including their anti-American policies, is making it difficult for Americans to see the anti-Americanism inherent in the party’s values.

The cost of losing the Democrat party, for these people, is perceptively too high. Deep down, they hope the progressives aren’t who they imagine the white supremacists and their allies say they are, ethnic global nationalists every bit as authoritarian as the Nazis many of these Americans believe they are really fighting.

At this point, the GOP is far more of an impediment to forming effective resistance to the Democrat Party, the flagship of the progressives, than it is an impediment to the Democrat Party itself.

The failure by the GOP-controlled Senate to pass the SAVE Act, an act that would require Voter ID and cancel on-demand mail-in voting, backs up this assessment of the party.

Americans can only hope SCOTUS strikes down on-demand mail-in voting so at least one major part of the progressives' election fortification machine gets dismantled.

The fact that a Democrat beat a Republican in a seat that had been won by the now-retired incumbent by over 10 points should tell you Democrats can win elections without cheating, even after all this, because the GOP gives Americans no real choice. The Republicans just stay home. The Democrats can win just through this alone.

The GOP's refusal to deliver decisive action against the Democrat party is the main factor keeping Republicans home, enabling Democrats to win EVEN in districts where election integrity is NOT a critical issue.

2. TRUMP DEPORTATIONS - As the deportations continue, the DHS funding crisis becomes more profound. The Democrats continue to refuse to end the government shutdown. President Trump has responded by sending ICE agents to help deal with the one area where Americans are feeling the DHS shutdown the most, in our airports.

The move is proving, so far, to be positive for ICE agents, who are seen as heroes by most of the people at the airports they're helping to get through security.

The recent announcement by Trump to declare an emergency that will allow DHS to pay TSA agents may or may not circumvent the shutdown, but legal challenges most likely have already been filed (or are about to be).

The deportations are not without real violations by ICE agents, as the DOJ even recently acknowledged. There are also constitutional issues emerging with how the FBI is buying our location data from 3rd parties in the name of finding illegal immigrants.

The most concerning development in the deportation process is the proliferation of detention centers, which are becoming a bipartisan source of resistance to the large-scale, rapid deportation strategy the administration appears to be deploying (or attempting to deploy).

Judicial roadblocks continue to be thrown at the operation, but victories have come as well. Read our report on Judgefare in our Bellwether Deepdive on pg. 2.

Progressive institutions like teachers' unions have been aiding the ICE interference operations. This is a strategy to use a certain number of paid disruptors to help lead a larger group of volunteers to essentially do two things, help illegal aliens escape capture and force ICE agents to do something violent that will cause the whole country to turn on them.

They know in advance that the corporate media, what we call the progressive media, will give them the most favorable, even doctored (if needed), coverage to drive the "ICE are Nazis" narratives. They also have protection from progressive DAs and judges who will do what they can get away with to assure there are no serious repercussions for their "work."

Stories of illegal immigrants harming or killing Americans, including children, continue to happen, while Democrats continue to soft-pedal the violence and stigmatize any public effort to point it out.

This strategy is alienating not just conservatives, but black Americans who are growing increasingly frustrated with illegal immigrants perceptively receiving more government benefits than they do.

B. WORLD

1. IRAN - While the Democrats' attempts to force an early end to the Iran War keep failing in the Senate, economic pressure from the war is only building. The U.S. and Israel have failed, so far, to secure the Strait of Hormuz.

Their allies in the west do not appear eager to help, while the Mideast allies appear as if they are preparing for a significant, possibly boots-on-the-ground response.

The U.S. itself is considering the use of ground troops to secure Kharg Island, Iran's oil refinery hub.

Iran's top leaders continue to get killed, but the resolve of the regime appears not to have wavered, even as assassinations in the country are only increasing, including drone assassinations of street security forces.

The absence of the world's most advance carrier, the Gerald R. Ford, must surely be taxing the American effort. The carrier remains docked out of theater, still getting repaired and recovering from its already historically long deployment.

The progressive media is aggressively pushing an anti-Israel narrative. It seems they recognize the fall of Iran as a critical empowering of American global power, an impediment to the broader progressive global vision.

They will do whatever they can get away with to turn the American people against the war, though that hasn't significantly moved the needle, yet. The longer the war goes on, the more likely the progressive media will be successful in its efforts.

China and Russia are doing what they can to help Iran, but their options are limited. China appears busy creating an energy pipeline that makes the Strait of Hormuz a moot point; It already is for the U.S., a fact not lost on President Trump, who appears anxious to end this war, but not without a decisively crippled Iran.

2. CHINA - Chairman Xi's purging of subversives continues, as more top leaders are either disappeared or charged with corruption, or worse.

The longer Iran holds on, the more China is likely to attempt to support the regime. Losing Iran to American influence would set China back significantly in the Middle East, though continuing to support Iran in the face of growing hostility against it by the whole region might compound that loss should the regime fall.

From China's Two Sessions came two new bills that accelerate China's ethnic state nationalism, one that forces more Han cultural harmony and less ethnic diversity and one that creates even more surveillance and censorship powers for the state, moving China even closer to North Korea in terms of everyday thought control of its citizens.

3. UKRAINE - The on-again, off-again peace talks between Russia and Ukraine appear to be mostly off at present. The two sides have been trading blows, targeting each other's energy infrastructure using drone, and now robot, assaults to do so.

Tellingly, the EU has once again delayed its proposal to ban Russian oil.

The frontlines continue to show inconstancies, with Russian advances here and Ukrainian advances there. No one appears to be able to break through in any significant, sweeping campaign.

The war is becoming a training ground for drone warfare, and Ukraine's and Russia's growing expertise are being exploited in the Iran War, with the U.S. borrowing not only from Ukraine, but from its own opponent, Iran.

C. CULTURE

1. ABORTION - There have been a number of victories for the pro-life movement this month. Planned Parenthood has to pay $500k for holding racist training sessions, California can no longer use tax dollars to pay for abortions, and a New Hampshire bill that would have made abortion a state constitutional right was defeated.

The abortionists scored a big win in the UK, with House of Lords passing a bill that legalizes abortion up to birth. In America, the College Fix pointed out that while every university in the state of Illinois MUST provide abortion care, NONE of them offer prenatal care for mothers intending to give birth to their child.

1.1 million unborn children were terminated through abortion in America last year, which is statistically nearly the same as last year's. One abortion doctor, Kermit Gosnell, died in prison, having been convicted of numerous murders of unborn children.

Operation Rescue Troy Newman released this statement on Gosnell's passing: "Gosnell was famous for murdering hundreds of late-term babies who struggled for life after failed abortion attempts, though he was only convicted of three. Within his 'House of Horrors' abortion facility were found unspeakably filthy conditions that revealed a gross disregard for the lives of his patients.

Bodies of babies dating back 30 years were stored in freezers and stashed in trash bags throughout his clinic. Dismembered feet of large babies were displayed floating in specimen jars in a cupboard as if they were trophies.

The world has been rid of a man that can only be described as a monster, and we are better off now that he is gone."

2. EUTHANASIA - Canada appears to be leading the world in euthanasia, with the country now allowing "same-day" suicides to its citizens, as well as forming a committee to consider allowing mentally ill patients, the poor, and children to consent to "medically assisted" suicide.

Nearly 100,000 Canadians have died by euthanasia since it was legalized. Scotland will not be the next euthanasia incubator, having defeated the latest efforts to legalize it.

3. WOKENESS - The UN is still hoping to codify a racial cast system with its latest resolution calling the enslavement of Africans the "gravest crime against humanity." Progressive institutions are still hoping for relief from progressive judges against orders to stop allowing men to play sports with women.

Progressive institutions are forming strategies to continue to practice unconstitutional standards like DEI by concealing them under new labels. Progressive media continue to push the white devil narrative, with PBS calling DEI rollbacks simply "White Supremacism."

This disconnect from American values is all the more profound because progressives no longer recognize it as being anything but "American" (to view the country as fundamentally a white devil's vehicle of power).

A California University, USC, delivered a prime example of that disconnect. The university cancelled a California gubernatorial debate because all the candidates were white.

Coloradans will now have an opportunity to vote on transgenders in sports and transitioning children thanks to two resolutions that got on the ballot. The push to transition children's gender with surgery was one well-funded by major corporations.

Another BLM activist was recently convicted of fraud, throwing more dirt on the already dead movement.

China's recent Ethnic Unity law makes it more apparent why the Democrat Party and its GOP rear guard protectors are such a natural frenemy fit with the CCP. The Bill unmasks China's ethnic nationalism, a trait we believe the progressives now share with the Chinese.

D. MARKET

Between the Iran War and the Ai-disrupted shifting jobs market, President Trump's pre-election strongpoint, the economy, is buckling under the pressure. An economy that, at the beginning of February appeared poised for takeoff, is now struggling under this one-two punch.

The U.S. is securing more options for rare earths resources, including striking a deal with Chile this month. It has also moved significantly towards energy sovereignty with the announcement of a new nuclear power plant and oil refinery this month.

While the short-term prognosis for the American economy is unstable, the country is positioning itself to have a future bounce-back that will come through smart early investing in energy sovereignty and AI infrastructure and resources, the emergence of new AI-related jobs for humans (many of which will be as much of a surprise to you as they will for us), and the hopeful early end of the Iran War.

E. AI

The White House has JUST RELEASED its much anticipated "Artificial Intelligence Framework," which is intended to form the foundation for future federal AI legislation and regulations. Expect an analysis of the framework in an upcoming issue of MIA. ‘

AI's expansion into world militaries is only accelerating, with questions still looming regarding how much agency do you give to an AI-run machine that has the capacity to kill? It appears, for now, the "urgency" of the times is pushing militaries to move faster than prudence might otherwise suggest we would.

While AI remains very unpopular, humans are yet using it more and more. Its content, now referred to often as AI slop, is testing the bounds of Intellectual Property laws, both in terms of what it draws from to create its own content and whether its creations warrant copyright protections.

With OpenAI cancelling its billion dollar Disney deal, along with its video AI app Sora, and social media companies suffering major lawsuit losses connected to children's safety, the legal landscape for the AI industry, and tech industry as a whole, looks increasingly expensive, which could have an overall slowdown effect on AI development as well as a scaling back of free social media services.

SYNTHESIS SUMMARY

This past month we have seen what we believe to be a transition for President Trump, from an extraordinary charismatic outsider shaking up the establishment, to a politician.

His invincibility is gone, but his formidability is not. He is no paper tiger, but he is not immune to effective counterattacks.

Yet we say this with one major caveat, should Iran crumble out of nowhere and Trump achieve the installment of a pro-American regime in a still-contiguous Iran, his invincibility might very well quickly return.

From an American perspective, this outcome would most likely produce an economic boom that could change the very political dynamic of the country, which seems to be mostly concerned about economics, not culture, nor the constitutional crisis.

But that outcome, we believe, is not likely, unless the U.S. unveils a new weapon that changes the very nature of war itself. There are no credible rumors such a weapon exists (though there are SOME rumors).

Americans seem to believe we have won the culture war, and the Democrat Party wasn't the primary driver of the ideology they imagine we have defeated. They are either turning back to the Democrats or opting out of voting altogether. Either way, the Democrats win, a party whose ideology is fundamentally opposed to Americanism.

We believe the absence of an effective opposition party to the progressives is protecting them from American accountability. So long as Republicans continue to block any effective action to blunt progressive power, they continue to be a de facto rear guard of the progressives.

Even as we finish this report, the GOP is continuing to impede resistance to the progressives, whom they still treat as if they are Americans when only progressives don't know they're not American anymore.

This month has seen the quiet advance of the new reality of power, one framed around AI infrastructure and need. While we see parts of it emerging, and some of the new battles begin to emerge as well, the old battles are still raging, concealing what's emerging beneath our very feet.

A. TRENDING

1. TRUMP PUSHES FOR END TO IRAN WAR AS MARKETS FEEL BURDEN OF BLOCKED STRAIT - President Donald Trump has put together a 15-point peace proposal to what's left of the Iran regime. Alleged representatives of the regime are telling corporate news media they have already rejected the deal.

The President has fired back, threatening he will “unleash hell” if Iran “fails to understand that they have been defeated.”

President Trump announced, “As per Iranian Government request, please let this statement serve to represent that I am pausing the period of Energy Plant destruction by 10 Days to Monday, April 6, 2026, at 8 P.M., Eastern Time. Talks are ongoing and, despite erroneous statements to the contrary by the Fake News Media, and others, they are going very well.”

2. DOJ CLOSES BIDEN AUTOPEN INVESTIGATION, SOURCE CLAIMS - After another round of much sound and fury signaling nothing, the GOP’s Department of Justice has allegedly quietly shut down its Biden autopen investigation in much the same way it has tried to bury the Epstein Files investigation. The claim comes from the Washington Examiner, which cites an anonymous source. The Department of Justice has refused to comment when asked by the press about the claim.

3. FBI ADMITS MORE THAN 100 TERABYTES OF EPSTEIN EVIDENCE WERE DELETED - Whatever the DOJ has on hand that it is calling the “Epstein Files,” it is hardly as much as what it could have been. According to a just-now discovered testimony in 2024 by FBI Agent Aaron Spivack, a hack into their NY Field Office during the 2023 Superbowl led to the FBI losing access to more than 500 terabytes of data. 100 Terabytes would turn out to be lost for good.

4. EPSTEIN WAS A FINANCIAL BOUNTY HUNTER FOR THE U.S.? - Jeffrey Epstein was officially a U.S. government agent according to a memo released among the Epstein Files. The claim comes from an unsigned memo that states, “At some point in time, Jeffrey Epstein worked for the United States government as a financial bounty hunter. He has retained significant political connections with both Israel and the United States.”

The memo's credibility comes from another part of the note recommending further information about Epstein from other federal agencies. It also accuses Epstein of violating child exploitation and sex offender traveling laws, The memo gives more credence, though not a smoking gun, to the claim Epstein was a government agent.

B. DOMESTIC TERROR

1. ISLAMIST SHOOTER KILLS 3, INJURES 17 IN TERROR ATTACK ON AUSTIN, TX BAR - 53-year-old Islamist Ndiaga Diagne opened fire on an Austin, Texas bar, killing 3 and injuring 17 others before being killed himself by the police. He was wearing a "Property of Allah" shirt and has connections to a local Islamist community with suspicious ties to Islamist terrorist organizations. The attack came just after the Ayatollah Khomeini was confirmed killed in aerial strikes, leading many to believe this was related to the war on Iran.

2. MEDIA, MAMDANI PROTECT ISLAMIST IED ATTACKERS WHILE VILIFYING WHITES, CHRISTIANS - The media coverage of the IED attack by two Islamists on a Christian anti-Muslim rally not only accused the Christians of being white supremacists (which they appear to actually be, in this case), they also accused the Christians of throwing the IEDs themselves. Mayor Mamdani of New York focused his ire on the "white supremacists," while only condemning the IEDs being tossed. He failed to mention the Islamists behind the attack.

The attack was caught on video, so the internet already knew the Islamists were behind the attack, The two suspects are Emir Balat and Ibrahim Kayumi, both of whom come from wealthy immigrant parents. They screamed "Allahu Akbar" when they threw the IEDs, which were all verified to be real. Had any one of them gone off (there were three total, two near the mayor's mansion), it is highly likely there would have been multiple casualties. We covered this story in more detail in the Final Thought of our Friday, March 13 MIA Issue.

3. ISLAMISTS ATTACK AMERICAN SYNAGOGUE, UNIVERSITY ON SAME DAY - On Thursday, March 12, 2026, two separate Islamists attempted to murder Americans, with one succeeding and the other being stopped before he could do further harm.

Islamist Lebanese "immigrant" Ayman Mohammad Ghazali attempted to murder Jews at a Michigan synagogue. He was killed by security after driving his car into the synagogue.

Islamist Mohamed Jalloh was successful in his attack on Old Dominion University. He killed one and injured another before ROTC members stopped him and killed him with their bare hands, according to reports. The Islamist killed one man, Lt. Colonel Brandon Shah.

C. U.S. ELECTIONS

1. FBI SEIZES 2020, 2024 ELECTION RECORDS FROM NOTORIOUS MARICOPA COUNTY, AZ - Maricopa County, AZ is seen as the epicenter of 2020 election fraud suspicion, surpassing its closest rival, Fulton County, GA, in evidence that is difficult for skeptics to simply dismiss. Now that county is under an FBI microscope, with the announcement of election records being seized from Maricopa County from the bureau.

Republican State Senate President Warren Petersen confirmed the action by the FBI, posting on X, "Late last week I received and complied with a federal grand jury subpoena for records relating to the Arizona State Senate's 2020 audit of Maricopa County. The FBI has the records. Any other report is fake news."

2. DEMS FLIP FLORIDA STATE HOUSE SEAT IN TRUMP'S MAR-A-LAGO DISTRICT - The Florida state house district President Trump's Mar-a-Lago estate resides in will now have a Democrat representing it after a special election saw Democrat Emily Gregory narrowly beat Trump-endorsed Republican John Maples. Trump won in this same region by 11 points in 2024. The special election was needed to replace retired Republican Mike Caruso, who won his last election by 19 points in 2024.

3. TEXAS PRIMARY FINISHES CROCKET, KEEPS CORNYN ALIVE - The Texas Senate Primary races were the main feature of March 3, 2026's midterm primaries, which were also held in Arkansas, North Carolina, Alabama, and Mississippi. In Texas, DNC race hustler Jasmine Crocket lost to James Talarico, a far-left "Christian" who claims God is non-binary and ok with abortions.

In the GOP race, Senator John Cornyn failed to get a majority vote, so a run-off race between himself and his closest challenger, Attorney General Ken Paxton, will happen in May. Paxton had offered to drop out of the race if Cornyn commits to passing the SAVE Act, even if it means voting to change the filibuster rule to require it to be verbal, not merely procedural. That offer is now void because the deadline for Paxton to withdraw has passed.

D. U.S. POLITICS

1. VA DEMS MOVE TO TAKE GUNS, CONTROL HISTORY NARRATIVES, AND CODIFY ANTI-WHITE RACISM - The Democrat Party of Virginia has moved aggressively to make the state in Progressive US's image, passing numerous bills aimed at curbing American liberty. They passed one bill that freezes white men out of government contracts, another bill that takes "assault weapons" from Americans, and another one which mandates J6 be taught to children as only being an insurrection.

The three bills reflect Progressive US's anti-white racist ideology, its disrespect for freedom of thought, and its fear of an armed citizenry it knows it is preparing to attack.

2. JUDGES SET FIRE TO TRUMP AGENDA IN A SERIES OF BRUTAL RULINGS - Mostly Biden-appointed Judges have shut down numerous major Trump policies, including freezing federal funding, shutting down Voice of America, halting DEI investigations of progressive schools, stopping ICE detention facilities from opening, and more.

In the wake of a slate of questionable rulings, SCOTUS Chief Judge John Roberts has encouraged what we consider insurrectionist rulings (with some exceptions) by Democrat activist judges while shaming any critique of these same rulings. 3. ANOTHER VICTIM OF FISA DECEPTION, THIS TIME BY THE MUELLER TEAM INVESTIGATING FISA DECEPTION - Walid Phares faced a 12-month period between 2017 and 2018 under a scrutinizing FBI microscope empowered by a deceived FISA court. The prosecutors withheld evidence that would have exonerated Phares and rendered the FBI's search warrant requests invalid. The prosecutors were attorneys of Special Counsel Robert Mueller's team investigating the Russian Collusion Hoax.

An investigation into why this evidence was withheld was never included in the team's final report, even though it is directly tied to it. This deception mimics the very deception that triggered the Russian Collusion Hoax in the first place, manipulating and withholding evidence to FISA court judges to get the results the prosecutors wanted, the power to spy on domestic political opposition.

Newly released transcripts of a testimony from an unnamed FBI agent reveals his attempts to include the anomaly of the Phares case in the report was rejected by a senior member of Mueller's team, Kevin Clinesmith. After the agent attempted to include not just the Phares FISA anomaly, but others, Clinesmith told him, "We can't send this to DOJ."

He takes over for Kristi Noem, who was reassigned to a South America project.

The Governor of Oklahoma, Republican Kevin Stitt, has chosen an energy executive, Alan Armstrong, to take the now-vacant seat. 5. FBI RAN ROUND RIVER CAMPAIGN TO DISCREDIT CLAIMS OF THE BIDENS' UKRAINE CORRUPTION - Senator Chuck Grassley (R-IA) claimed in a press release that the FBI ran a disinformation campaign in 2020 to protect the Biden family from potential prosecution. This operation was called Round River. It was so secret not even the then FBI Director, Bill Barr, knew of its existence.

Grassley claimed, "in August 2020, FBI Supervisory Intelligence Analyst Brian Auten opened an assessment which was used by a FBI Headquarters ('FBI HQ') team to improperly discredit negative Hunter Biden information as disinformation and caused investigative activity to cease."

These deals freeze Russia and China out of the Venezuela equation.

As Cuba struggles to keep the lights on, Russia has sent oil tankers to rescue them, tankers expected to reach Cuba early next week.

Cuban President Miguel Diaz-Canel responded that any act of aggression “will clash with an impregnable resistance.” Mexico has just announced plans to attempt to “come to Cuba’s aid,” sending a relief supply flotilla and promising to figure out how to get oil to the communist country.

DHS Security advisor and Secret Service supervisor Charles Marino suggested the size of those teams could be as much as 20 people.

1. CONSEQUENCE OF SCOTUS RULING ALREADY HITTING COURTS AS TRUMP ADMIN PLEDGES IT WILL PAY INTEREST ON TARIFF REFUNDS - Should the Trump administration lose in the courts and be forced to refund “American” businesses, they are committed to pay interest on the refunds, they informed the courts.

Judges have already signaled a willingness to fast-track the process, as we predicted would happen in our Bellwether DeepDive from our March 6, 2026 MIA issue. In addition to the refunds for U.S. companies, foreign companies are also lining up for their cut of the SCOTUS plunder. 2. SOCIAL MEDIA HIT HARD IN TWO LANDMARK U.S. CASES, BOTH ADDRESSING CHILD SAFETY - Meta and YouTube have each faced legal setbacks that could portend badly for the social media industry as a whole. Both cases are expected to set off copycat cases, including against other social media platforms.

3. OPENAI ENDS BILLION DOLLAR DISNEY DEAL, SHUTS DOWN VIDEO AI APP SORA - OpenAI is facing existential pressure after having to cancel a $1 billion Disney deal that would have allowed the media company to use their video AI app Sora to develop content. The app was ended due to an inability to prevent it from creating dangerous deepfake videos, including pornographic ones.

Disney said of the severed deal, "We appreciate the constructive collaboration between our teams and what we learned from it, and we will continue to engage with AI platforms to find new ways to meet fans where they are while responsibly embracing new technologies that respect IP and the rights of creators."

2. CHINA'S NEW ETHNIC UNITY LAW READS LIKE NAZI LAW - China's National People's Congress approved a new law called the "Law on Promoting Ethnic Unity and Progress." The law aims to harmonize the country's 55 state-recognized ethnic minorities with the Han majority. The law was passed on March 12 and was signed into law by Chairman Xi. The law takes effect on July 1st.

It is feared that the law will be used to further crack down on these minorities, leading to more genocidal pogroms such as were carried out against the Uyghurs (and are still going on).

Some of the tactics of the past include forcing minority groups to have more abortions, taking children and raising them as Han, and banning the use of the minority group's languages and artistic traditions.

3. UK MOVES CLOSER TO SHARIA AS IT MOVES CLOSER TO CRIMINALIZING DOGS - The United Kingdom has fallen to Sharia. The evidence becomes more and more clear as the tiny island nation may have surpassed China in arrests of people for saying bad things online. The top protected class in the UK is the Muslim, then the Islamist immigrant, then the Rainbow Coalition, with Trans and non-binary as the stars of that group.

Now, the UK wants to make dogs illegal for the sake of its growing Muslim nation within, a nation that despises dogs. To prepare the British for the loss of their dogs, Starmer's cabinet is working on legislation that would ban 67 dog breeds in the name of safety and health.

4. KIDS ARE CHEMICALLY "TRANSITIONING" THANKS TO ONLINE PHARMACIES - The Daily Caller Foundation has released a report that exposes "online pharmacies" as being sources for children to get access to "transition" drugs. Kurt Miceli, chief medical officer at DNH, summarized the report, claiming it "reveals how online pharmacies may enable minors to obtain cross-sex hormones with alarming ease."

"From websites listing online vendors across the globe to marketplaces for 'homebrewed' hormones, we found a multitude of troubling pathways that appear to bypass basic safeguards and regulatory oversight. Gender-confused kids should not be able to purchase potent, experimental medications with just a few simple clicks. These hormones carry significant risks, including effects that can be irreversible.

We urge the [U.S. Food and Drug Administration] and other federal agencies to investigate any potential unlawful sellers and, where appropriate, for states to do the same when their laws are being violated," Miceli continued. "Protecting minors from unsafe and unregulated access to powerful cross-sex hormones must remain a priority."

5. CANADA APPROACHES 100K EUTHANIZED, WHILE THE POOR ARE NOW ELIGIBLE FOR MAID, AND CHILDREN MIGHT SOON BE - Amir Farsoud, 54, is being guided towards state-assisted suicide through Canada's MAiD. While he suffers from chronic back pain, his reason for applying for MAiD was because he can no longer work, and Canada does not give him enough money to avoid becoming homeless. He'd rather die than become homeless, and now, in Canada, you can legally be killed for that fear alone.

So far, almost 100,000 Canadians have been murdered (aborted) by the state, legally, according to a report by the Special Joint Committee on Medical Assistance in Dying. That same group is now recommending "mature minors" be allowed to consent to suicide as well.

6. RING'S SEARCH PARTY IS A POLICE STATE TROJAN HORSE - Amazon's Ring Camera has added a Search Party feature critics say enables Amazon to build a pre-crime database that the state (or the corporation) could use to quickly tamp down dissent. He wrote, "*I believe that the foundation we created with Search Party, first for finding dogs, will end up becoming one of the most important pieces of tech and innovation to truly unlock the impact of our mission. 7. 9TH CIRCUIT BLASTED BY OWN JUDGE FOR RULING THAT ALLOWS MEN IN RELIGIOUS WOMEN'S SPACES - After the U.S. 9th circuit court ruled religious groups cannot keep trans men out of women's spaces, they received a fiery dissent. 9th Circuit Judge Lawrence VanDyke began his dissent with the phrase, "This is a case about swinging d#%ks."

He then added, "The fact that the religious owners of a traditional Korean, women-only, nude spa are prohibited by law from preventing a naked adult male, who remains sexually attracted to women, from exposing himself to thirteen-year-old girls tragically illustrates the sick and twisted consequences of erasing sex as a coherent legal category

My distressed colleagues appear to have the fastidious sensibilities of a Victorian nun when it comes to mere unpleasant words in my opinion yet exhibit the scruples of our dearly departed colleague Judge Reinhardt when it comes to the government trampling on religious liberties and exposing women and girls to male genitalia. 9. NASA WANTS A MOON BASE - NASA has announced plans to build a moon base that will cost the U.S. $20 billion, according to NASA administrator Jared Isaacman. A moon base could replace the need for space stations. The moon base will also be a research and testing facility preparing the technologies needed for an eventual Mars occupation. It will also serve as the eventual departure point for the first landing. The race to Mars appears to be on.

10. NEA TRAINING ANTI-AMERICAN INSURRECTIONISTS, NOT TEACHERS - The National Education Association recently held a training session called "Advocacy and Free Speech Rights for K-12 Education" that seeks to establish the oughtness of woke ideology as the oughtness of human life.

This action is sectarian in nature, which is troubling given the nature of the organization. It is one of the largest teachers' unions in America, with over 3 million teachers. The question is not if the organization crossed the line into political activism, but what, if anything will be done about it.

11. MINNESOTA TEACHERS' UNION SPENDS TIME, MONEY COORDINATING TERRORIST ATTACKS ON ICE AGENTS - According to an investigation by Defending Education, a teachers' union called "Minneapolis Families for Public Schools (MFPS)" has been coordinating an initiative to effectively help teachers organize resistance to ICE arrests of illegal aliens.

The "initiate" is called "TakeAction Minnesota." On the website, they claim "We will teach and demonstrate resistance tactics that can be replicated elsewhere, leaving no community undefended. We hope to force an end to ICE's unprecedented siege of Minnesota — and further the movement to abolish ICE altogether while we do it,"

Rhyen Staley, research director at Defending Education, stated "The teachers unions continue to prove they are rotten apples that only care about far-left street activism, to the detriment of educating children. Teachers and community groups should be dedicating time to improving learning outcomes for students, not creating strategies and lists of people to attempt to thwart law enforcement."

12. PSYCHIATRY JOURNALS HAVE AN UNDISCLOSED PAYMENTS PROBLEM - A study published in BMJ Open claims 14.2% of industry payments made to published authors were undisclosed in two major psychiatric journals. The findings put further doubt on the psychiatric industry's integrity assurance standards. This finding follows a 2020 study that revealed 55.7% of U.S. psychiatrists have accepted pharmaceutical industry funding.

13. FEMALE GENDERCIDE IN CHINA - China is committing female genocide according to its own statistics, which shows there are 133 boys born for every 100 girls born. This statistic does not happen naturally, it only happens through selective abortions, specifically of girls. The statistics come from the country's own just-released 2024 birth report.

A. TOP STORIES

1. TRUMP ANNOUNCES PLAN TO END DHS PAY FREEZE WITH EMERGENCY DECLARATION - In a move that is sure to be immediately challenged in a progressive court, President Trump has announced a plan to end the DHS pay freeze without using congress. He declared, "They are refusing to fund Immigration Enforcement unless the Republicans agree to their Open Border Policies, which will never, ever happen again...."

Because the Democrats have recklessly created a true National Crisis, I am using my authorities under the Law to protect our Great Country, as I always will do! Therefore, I am going to sign an Order instructing the Secretary of Homeland Security, Markwayne Mullin, to immediately pay our TSA Agents in order to address this Emergency Situation, and to quickly stop the Democrat Chaos at the Airports."

2. THE NEW LEADERSHIP OF IRAN IS ALREADY DEAD - By the time you see this, Iran may very well have selected a new group of future military targets, their new leadership. They had to select a new leadership not because the Khomeini leadership was killed, but because their replacements were. The leadership meeting to select the replacements of the Khomeini leadership happened in Tehran, where the entire leadership gathered was killed, according to U.S. and Israeli officials.

3. ANTIFA TERRORISTS FIRST TO BE CONVICTED OF TERRORISM - Nine Antifa members will go down in U.S. history as the first Antifa members convicted of terrorism. Finding DAs willing to charge them of terrorism has been difficult, but these terrorists chose Texas as their target for attack. U.S. Attorney for the Northern District of Texas Lancy Larson was more than willing to charge them with terrorism. They were found guilty of terrorism by a federal jury in Fort Worth, Texas.

The nine antifa members were convicted of organizing an ambush-style attack on an ICE facility in Alvarado, Texas. The nine convicted terrorists are Cameron Arnold, Zachary Evetts, Benjamin Song, Savanna Batten, Bradford Morris, Maricela Rueda, Elizabeth Soto, Ines Soto, and Daniel Rolando Sanchez-Estrada.

4. NEPALESE ELECT FORMER RAPPER TO BE THEIR NEXT PM - The Gen Z revolution of Nepal has now culminated with a sweeping victory for a new party led by former rapper Balendra Shah. His party has now replaced the ruling party of the past few decades, the Communist Party of Nepal. Shah's party has won super majorities in both the direct-vote seats of the parliament as well as the proportional representation seats. The Communist Party has fallen from majority party status to fringe 3rd party status in this one election.

B. U.S. POLITICS

1. U.S. GOVERNMENT MAKES DEAL TO NEVER PUSH SOCIAL MEDIA CENSORSHIP AGAIN - The U.S. government has made a deal with state governments to no longer pressure social media companies to censor Americans. Senator Eric Schmitt, who as Missouri's Attorney General, sued the Biden administration. He alleged the administration was strong-arming social media companies to remove posts and users that didn't conform to the progressive agenda.

Schmitt declared, "Today, after years of unrelenting litigation, we deep state into a historic 10-year, court-enforceable Consent Decree. It directly binds the Surgeon General, the CDC, and CISA: no more threats of legal, regulatory, or economic punishment. No more coercion. No more unilateral direction or veto of platform decisions to remove, suppress, deplatform, or algorithmically bury protected speech ..."

This is the first real, operational restraint on the federal censorship machine. It locks in the First Amendment principle we fought for: modern technology doesn't erase your rights, and government labels don't strip speech of protection. The deep state just got checked."

2. VA STATE SPECIAL ELECTION DELIVERS CRUSHING BLOW TO DNC - The GOP candidate for a special election for the House of Delegates District 98 seat beat the DNC challenger by 25 points. Republican Andrew Rice defeated Democrat Cheryl Smith 62.5% to 37.5%. While the district is already Republican, the depth of the victory by a non-incumbent over a Democrat challenger serves as a warning to the Virginia Democrats in power that support for their radical agenda is not as deep and profound as they imagine.

3. ICE GETS SCOTUS PROTECTION FROM PROGRESSIVE THREAT - After numerous progressive leaders from Susan Rice to Illinois Governor J.B. Pritzker have been making veiled threats to ICE agents, SCOTUS has pre-emptively intervened. The Progressives have been calling for ICE agents to face criminal prosecution for following President Trump's SCOTUS-approved orders. Now, SCOTUS has ruled 6-3 to overthrow a lower court ruling that would have given the Progressives the power to carry through with their threats.

4. TRUMP GIVEN GREEN LIGHT TO DETAIN ILLEGALS WITHOUT BOND - The Trump administration received another rare win in a week of judicial defeats, this time from a panel of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The panel ruled 2-1 to reverse a lower court order that would have essentially forced the DHS to have a catch and release policy for illegal immigrants. The ruling now generally allows illegals to be detained without bond until their removal case is resolved by the court. Read more about the progressive judiciary versus the conservative executive in our Bellwether Deepdive on pg. 2.

C. LAWFARE

1. TRUMP'S 2020 ELECTORS FULLY FREE FROM PROSECUTION AFTER MICHIGAN DA SURRENDERS - Michigan DA Dana Nessel has decided she will not pursue charges against 16 Trump electors from the 2020 election who attempted to claim they should be recognized as the real delegates because the election was stolen. The Trump electors were charged with election fraud, a charge that doesn't stick, as a district court judge ruled, saying they were being charged for freedom of speech, not for committing fraud.

Now, after looking for ways to defy the district judge's ruling, the DA has given up the fight. She claimed, "My office did not reach this decision lightly, though after a thorough assessment of the resources and time required to pursue justice in these cases, the pace and difficulty with which various courts have dealt with criminal violations of election law, and our likelihood of success given stringent appellate review standards, I have decided not to pursue an appeal."

2. MICHAEL FLYN WINS $1.2 MILLION REDEMPTION - Former National Security Advisor Michael Flynn won a $1.2 million settlement from the Department of Justice after the DOJ's unconstitutional prosecution of him. Flynn was the initial tip of the spear of the Russian collusion hoax.

Under extreme DOJ pressure, including against Flynn's family members, he pleaded guilty to charges he was in the process of seeking to throw out before President Trump pardoned him in November 2020. This came after the DOJ itself reversed course on the Flynn case, admitting it had no proper basis to interview Flynn in the first places. It also admitted his statements were not material to a valid investigation, let alone valid charges.

3. PROGMERICAN JUDGE GETS APPEALS COURT REBUKE AFTER ATTEMPT TO BECOME CHICAGO'S SELF-APPOINTED IMMIGRATION CZAR - An Obama-appointed Judge, Sara Ellis, got a verbal beatdown from the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals, accusing her of "effectively establish[ing]" herself "as the supervisor of all Executive Branch activity in the city of Chicago." The court shut down her effective effort to control the Federal Immigration policies for the city of Chicago and its surrounding communities.

Parts of her initial order included a requirement that the DHS gives her a daily brief of all their activities in the city, to assure compliance, They also include preventing federal agents from "using hands-on physical force such as pulling or shoving to the ground, tackling, or body slamming" anyone who is not causing an immediate threat of physical harm to other... It also ordered that anyone calling themselves a journalist should be allowed to stay in an area, even if a dispersal order is lawfully given.

D. CULTURE

1. LOUISVILLE TO PAY NEARLY $1 MILLION TO CHRISTIAN BAKER - An attempt by the city of Louisville, KY to force Christians to bake gay wedding cakes has cost the city $800K. That is the amount the city was ordered to pay out to Chelsey Nelson, who sued the city after it tried to threaten Nelson with unspecified damages if she did not make a gay marriage affirming cake.

2. COLORADANS GET OPPORTUNITY TO VOTE ON TRANSGENDERS IN SPORTS AND PREVENTING CHILD "TRANSITIONS" - In Colorado, two ballot initiatives have been approved that both deal with transgenderism. One measure would prevent physicians from performing surgeries on children to change the appearance of their gender. A second measure would prevent boys presenting as girls from participating in female sports.

The Colorado Times Recorder demonstrates Progressive media agit prop with its headline “How Christian-Right Activists Got Anti-Trans Initiatives on Colorado’s Ballot.” The headline vilifies opposition with a negative term (one this same media helped vilify), “Christian right” and stigmatizes opposition to transitioning children and allowing boys presenting as girls to play sports with girls.

3. THE LEFT’S HOLD ON BOY SCOUTS IS BROKEN - Scouting America has now committed to end its DEI programs, recognize the biological binary sex reality of humans, and separate the boys from the girls. The move came after Secretary of War Pete Hegseth informed the organization that failure to uncouple anti-American leftism from their standards would result in the Department of War ending its relationship with them.

4. SCOTUS STOPS CALIFORNIA FROM SECRETLY TRANSGENDERING YOUR KIDS - The Supreme Court struck down a California policy that essentially allowed schools to secretly transition your children to a different “gender” without your consent. The ruling was 6-3.

The majority justices determined, “We conclude that the parents who seek religious exemptions are likely to succeed on the merits of their Free Exercise Clause claim. The parents who assert a free exercise claim have sincere religious beliefs about sex and gender, and they feel a religious obligation to raise their children in accordance with those beliefs. The right protected by these precedents includes the right not to be shut out of participation in decisions regarding their children’s mental health.”

5. CHRISTIANS CAN NOW ADOPT IN VERMONT - For a brief season in Vermont, Christians could not adopt children because of the progressive-controlled state’s presupposition that homosexuality and transgenderism are good and should be celebrated, especially in children.

Now, Vermont has been reeled in after a settlement between the state’s child grooming and terrorizing agency, the Department of Children and Families, and Christian couples who sued for the right to adopt children without bending the knee to the left’s child grooming ideology.

Now, the DCF’s new guidelines protect Christians from leftist terrorism. It reads “[a]pplicants’ sincerely held personal, cultural, religious, moral, or philosophical beliefs shall not be considered in the licensing process.”

6. INDIANA LAW PREVENTS CHRISTIANS FROM BEING BANNED FROM ADOPTION AND FOSTER CARE - Republican Indiana Governor Mike Braun has officially signed into law a bill that will protect people of Faith from being excluded from adoption and foster care. The bill is primarily aimed at democrat-controlled local governments that are attempting to freeze Christians out of the adoption/foster care process because of their opposition to indulging children’s sexuality or gender fantasies.

7. SCOTLAND BEATS BACK EUTHANASIA - Scotland’s version of legalized euthanasia has failed to pass their legislature after a 2-year push for its passage. The bill failed 69 to 57. The bill’s passage failure tables the issue legislatively for a decade or more. The move is supported by the public, with a poll showing 7 in 10 fear it could be used to pressure people to commit suicide when they otherwise wouldn’t have.

8. EZRA MOMENT TO HAPPEN TO MARK 250TH ANNIVERSARY OF AMERICA - Over 480 national leaders from a wide spectrum of industries, including politics, entertainment, and ministry, will be gathering to read scripture from Genesis to Revelation. The commemoration harkens back to Ezra reading scripture to the people after returning from the exile and preparing to rebuild the temple and the city of Jerusalem (Nehemiah 8:2-3).

The event will take place in Washington, D.C. along the National Mall. It will happen from April 18-26. Creator and organizer Bunni Pounds said of the event, “It hit me in that moment, looking at Ezra at the Museum of the Bible, that we really need an Ezra moment in our nation. We need Americans to realize who we are, just like Ezra stood up with a scroll and he read the Books of Moses to the Israelites. We have, in a lot of ways, forgotten who we are as Christians and as Americans, because the foundation of Scripture is absent from our life.”

And so I thought, man, it would be awesome if we had national leaders from all spheres of influence, all demographics and denominations, if they would stand up humbly in front of the American people and tell us that this is where they get their life and their peace and their wisdom is in Scripture every day as individuals. And then what if we read the Bible all the way through as Americans for the 250th birthday?”

E. MARKET

1. OIL REFINERY AND NUCLEAR POWER PLANT APPROVED IN SAME WEEK - President Trump is overseeing the return of American energy sovereignty through the construction of new oil refineries and nuclear power plants. The Biden administration had begun the process of reactivating nuclear energy by completing the construction of a nuclear power plant in George in 2024. It was the first nuclear reactor to be built in America in over 30 years.

Now, President Trump has overseen the approval of an oil refinery in Brownsville, Texas, and the construction of a first-of-its-kind nuclear reactor in Wyoming. The oil refinery is the first approved building of a new refinery in America in over 50 years. This same week, the nuclear power plant received its approval to build the nuclear reactor. With the need for energy for AI machines, nuclear power is sure to move to the fore of future energy planning, especially micro-reactors for individual AI machines.

2. DOGE CUTS $2 BILLION IN GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS - The Department of Government Efficiency (DOGE) has helped federal agencies modify or cancel $2 billion worth of government contracts in the last 4 weeks alone, producing an overall savings of $757 million for the American taxpayer. DOGE's similar efforts in the four weeks prior affected 273 government contracts, which led to a total savings of $1.4 billion. This means DOGE is reporting a savings of over $2 billion in the last two months of work alone.

V. TOOLS OF ENGAGEMENT

A. SCOTUS TARIFF RULING

In our March 6, 2026, MIA Weekly, Paul Gordon Collier did a bellwether deepdive on the Supreme Court decision affecting Trump's tariffs issued under the IEEA Act.

In that analysis, Collier concluded, "At the SCOTUS level, I expect this court to side with the resistance, and wherever sophistry can remotely be applied to justify the denial of Trump's policies (to defeat Hitler, in their minds), they will do so. However, there are limitations, even for this rogue court. Some degree of a semblance of Americanism must still be maintained, at least for now.

"For that reason, I expect SCOTUS to not fully shut down Trump's tariff powers, but from here until the first District Court injunction, he has a limited time to act decisively using tariffs to target our enemies for economic warfare.

"What many do not realize is this, American pax is over and everyone knows it. There is a new real scramble for power that will leave the losers in destitute circumstances. The race to build the one AI machine to rule them all is on, and Trump recognizes this; THAT is why he chose to use tariffs in this unprecedented, but legal (unprecedented doesn't equal illegal, Mr. Roberts) way, for he understood the stakes are high.

The world is resetting its power structure, and competition is fierce to not become a subservient to the greater power, and it's a competition America can lose, especially with Progmerica still fighting to take over from within, aided as they are by quislings in our courts."

With a divided house, life is uncertain. Building reserves to get you through potential upheavals in supply are as essential as they've been since the first Covid lockdowns were ordered. That fragile state has only continued, and we act on the assumption it is only going to get worse before it gets better (and we DO believe it will get better).

We believe most of you (hopefully us too) will not be touched at a catastrophic level, where you might be without resources for a period of time (perhaps two months), but some of you (and us) MIGHT be. We are already preparing for the potential interruption that might happen, fully expecting the lights to come back on in the end.

To make it through the dark valley, consider:

1. ESSENTIAL NEEDS - What are your essential needs that, if you go without them for more than 2 months, could kill you? Medicines might be top on that list. Food might be easier to find than medicine. One of our spouses has medicine that is consistently not available right away due to the strain on the medical supply lines already.

Here is a list of vulnerable medicines. If your medicines are on the list, consider alternatives, or, where possible, stock up for two months in advance.

2. TRANSPORTATION - Consider having electric bikes on hand for emergency travel. To go along with those e-bikes, consider portable solar panels to recharge the e-bikes if you lose power for any period of time.

B. APOCALYPSE IRAN: IRAN'S NEW ORDER AND THE PRICE THE WORLD IS ALREADY PAYING

In our March 13, 2026, issue, our military affairs correspondent, Michael Cessna, presented an analysis of the Iran War that focused on the looming secondary global threats emerging from this war. One of the most pressing challenges comes through the Strait of Hormuz. So long as Iran can continue to shut down, or even slow down, commercial trade through the strait, global economies and even food supplies face existential threats.

Cessna explained, "The financial consequences were immediate and severe. Kuwait announced oil production cuts, and Iraq cut 1.5 million barrels per day as on-shore storage filled. Brent crude logged its largest weekly gain in the history of the futures contract, surging by 28%. By March 8, Brent had crossed $103 per barrel — the first time it had exceeded $100 in four years. U.S. retail gasoline prices jumped to a national average of $3.45 per gallon by March 9, up more than 51 cents in a single week.

"J.P. Morgan's commodities research team warned that production cuts could exceed 4 million barrels per day by the end of the following week if the strait remained closed, and that prices could exceed $150 per barrel if Gulf infrastructure continued to be targeted — an outcome that Qatar's Energy Minister described as capable of triggering "the collapse of world economies."

While seeming hyperbolic on the surface, the IEA convened an emergency meeting of its 30+ member states, which collectively hold 1.2 billion barrels in strategic reserve, to discuss a coordinated release."

1. EMERGENCY FOOD SUPPLY - If you haven't started growing your own food already, starting now won't help you deal with this immediate potential crisis. Stocking up on food is advised, and if you haven't you definitely should.

C. TRANSITIONS: PT. 2 - FROM JUDGES TO KINGS, HOW ISRAEL BECAME A KINGDOM OF MEN

In our March 20, 2026, issue of MIA, Paul Gordon Collier analyzed Israel's transition from a nation of Judges to a nation of Kings. What he noted was this:

"The Kingdom still ostensibly claimed God as King, but their King would, more often than not, gain more praise from the people than God would. While God ordained it and allowed it to happen, it was not his desire. He knew the hearts of men. He knew one day his own people would call for a King even after they had one supernaturally deliver them from slavery.

"I gave you a king in my anger, and I took him away in my wrath." - Hosea 13:11

"While they held on to the foundation of the Judges nation, what they built on top of it, kingship, would ultimately undermine the foundation that gave them legitimacy, which ultimately led to the death of the Kings nation and the eventual rise of the 2nd Temple province of many Empires (save for the era of the Maccabees).

"The differences between the two are, to me, radical enough to identify them as two civilizations (but one people). The second civilization sought to compromise with the civilizations around it. The kingdom sought the approval of neighboring Kings, not that of the King of Kings they once declared their sovereign."

What the Kingdom drifted away from was a foundation in the Word of God. Our challenge this month to our readers is to read Psalm 119 every day for 30 days. In that reading, pray that the Holy Spirit moves in you to imprint the Hebrew alphabet in you.

Psalm 119 outlines the purpose of meditating on the Word daily, how to meditate on that Word, and what the fruit of meditating on the Word of God daily produces. Psalm 119 spells out why the Word of God should be the first and last plumbline of your actions, not the pleased voices of men, or the fear of their rejection.

For help in that meditation, here are three possibilities:

1. Psalm 119 - Charles Bridges

2. Faith in Exile: Psalm 119 and the Christian Life - David VanDrunen

3. A Lamp Unto My Feet: A 12-Week Study through Psalm 117 – Stave Gallagher

D. JUDGEFARE VERSUS AMERICA

In this week's issue, our monthly review for March 2026, our bellwether deepdive for the month was about the growing threat of Judgefare in America. In that deepdive, our staff wrote, "Recent rulings by what we would classify as progressive activist judges have only widened the divide between the conservative executive and the progressive judiciary.

"We believe the judiciary is mostly controlled by progressives, directly through progressive activist judges and indirectly through bar associations, law schools, and other judicial enforcement institutions.

"Their values are unique to their people, and alien to Americans, for they rest on the assumption that the social usurps the individual and social status usurps American rule of law...

"We call this part of the progressive revolutionary war machine, Judgefare, the use of judges and the judiciary to stifle dissent and complete the transition from "Progmerica" to the Progressive U.S., now free to openly practice progressive values and bury Americanist values once and for all."

To protect yourself from potential lawfare and Judgefare, consider first whether your actions present challenges to progressive power. Do you own a business that has a lot of social signal power? If so, you might be at risk of future targeting should you not comply to a future offer too good to be true (usually offered by a "special interest" group like GLAAD).

If the course of your life does not in some way either invite power for progressives or challenge it, you need not worry too much about the threat of Judgefare or lawfare in your life. If the course of your life falls into either of those two categories, then consider our recommendations.

1. LEGAL INSURANCE - One way to protect yourself against lawfare is to purchase legal insurance. There are a variety of options out there, so we suggest you start first by learning exactly what legal insurance is and whether it is right for you, and second, which legal insurance provider is the best one for you.

2. LEARN LEGAL BASICS - We don't recommend anyone ever represent themselves in a legal matter, but we do recommend people becoming as familiar with the law as resources will allow. The more familiar you are with at least the underlying principles of constitutional law, the better prepared you will be to be an advocate for your rights not just with the authorities but even with your own lawyer (especially if you have a court-appointed one).

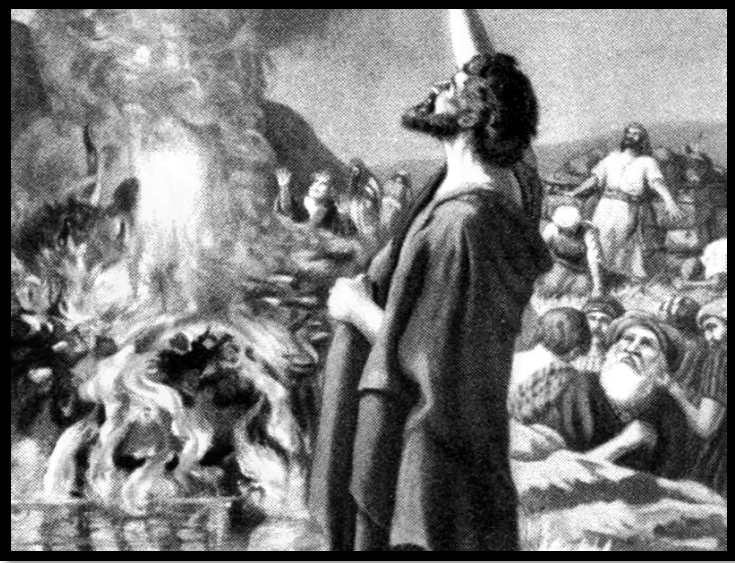

These resources are geared towards both non-lawyers and lawyers, but even the resources for lawyers listed here can be very useful to anyone wanting to get a basic familiarity with U.S. constitutional law.

VI. FINAL THOUGHT SHIFTING TONES

By Paul Gordon Collier, Editor

“The liberties of our country, the freedom of our civil constitution, are worth defending against all hazards: And it is our duty to defend them against all attacks.” - Samuel Adams

Our Hope Castle Project, which now includes Riqueday Castle and our Harrisburg project, is about to go into overdrive as the winter comes to a close. In Harrisburg, Bill has made advances towards readying his apartment space so he can stay there more often to get more work done.

In Canton, we have been monitoring the thawing out of our pipes after the ice disaster and have found no major problems (so far). We will be doing a complete test of the system next week.

We will have a more thorough update in the May 1, 2026, issue, which will be the April 2026 Monthly review.

We want to remind our readers that there will be no issue next week. This is a scheduled off-week (to see our 2026 publishing schedule, go to the back page of this issue) which coincides with Passion Week for my household. This year, my wife and I will be doing a daily bible study plan together covering the last 12 chapters of the gospel of John (two chapters a day).

We will be returning on April 10, for our first ever Quarterly Review. In this issue, we will offer our Predictive Analysis for the next three months.

We will also have news on the ministry of our founder, Don McAlvany, which recently went through a great trial that ended in triumph.

The title of this final thought, Shifting Tones, is our next topic. We will end with an update about our website, mindfulintelligence.news.

For the past couple of years, we have endeavored to express our news analysis in the language of the prophetic, seeking to call what we see by what we consider to be the most viscerally accurate descriptions we possibly could. While that prophetic voice is not going away completely, we believe we have entered a new season, one that compels us to shift our tone.

The purpose of our prophetic tone is two-fold, to jar the “sinner” into a candid awareness of the nature of the “sins” they are committing and to bring to raw awareness what we believe to be the current spiritual state of our land to those who continue to deny it. The latter audience would be horrified if they believed the depraved nature of the crisis we face was true.

We believe we have now entered a new season, one in which, for the most part, the “sinner” is aware of their “sins” and has only doubled down on them. We also believe that those who continue to deny the depth and depravity of the crisis we face have a vested interest in the power created by that same depravity. They are mostly locked in to the faction they have chosen, come what may.

While some people will yet repent and turn away from the patterns of death, and some will newly become aware of the depth and depravity of the crisis we currently face, we believe the major factions are mostly set, at least for the next 3-5 years. This assumes there is no unforeseen ecumenical catastrophe or technological breakthrough that radically alters the realities of power.

The time for geographic consolidation is coming (blue and red state migrations). It has already begun. It will only be accelerated.

The major factions in this country are roughly three, with the third not yet self-identified, and certainly not organized at any level.

The first faction will be referred to from here on out simply as the Progressives or the Democrat Party. The second group will be referred to as the Conservatives. The Republican Party represents a mix of these two major factions, and perhaps a handful of people from the third major faction.

While I have chosen to use the term “conservative” to describe the second faction, I do not want to suggest that this an actual conservative faction. Rather, it is a term the majority of the people within this faction call themselves. Yet within that group are American leftists (not Progressive leftists), pragmatists, and simple Americanists (who usually refer to themselves as constitutionalists and are largely registered independent).

This faction is the Not-Progressive faction, the faction that recognizes the anti-Americanism of the Progressives without necessarily understanding Americanism beyond freedom of speech, the right to bear arms, and having the most powerful military in the world.

A large portion of this faction are potential Americanists, even if they’re not fully aware of it yet, but not all of them are. Some of them are as anti-American as the Progressives. Generally, the further “right” you go, the less American you get (at least within this faction).

A lot of standard terms that we have been using you will either no longer see or rarely see. Here is one example that demonstrates how we applied our prophetic tone principle and how we are changing it:

We have referred to the Democrats, or Progressives, as the DNC-CCP, which we will rarely do in the future. This decision is NOT because we believe that term is inaccurate, but because at this point it should be redundant to anyone paying attention for the last two years. It is also not fair to the Republicans, who seem to have their own CCP connection issues.

Donald Trump himself, at least publicly, portrays China sometimes as a great adversary and sometimes as a fair competitor. He has freely and openly complimented Chairman Xi, for instance. His unwillingness to end Chinese student visas in the tens of thousands annually reinforces our suspicion that Trump sees China as a “useful” polar power in a future world.

China’s influence in America might only be rivaled by Israel at this point. That influence crosses party lines, in both cases.

In the case of Israel, it should be noted that we are not dealing with an adversary who wants our very form of governance annihilated, they mostly want our military might and funding of their military might. We have also benefited from military technologies our tax dollars helped them develop.

China sees America as the last impediment to the establishment of a social-first worldwide governance standard, ending every human’s hope of escaping to an individual-first governance standard since there would be no such governance left standing. Yet China has more favor with U.S. politicians than tax paying Americans do.

This example is one of many terminology changes we will be making as we shift away from a primarily prophetic tone to a preparatory tone. At this point, we assume our readers, and future readers, already understand the depth of the crisis we face. They don’t need to be reminded of the depth of that depravity anymore.

In addition to recognizing that the “teams” are mostly set for the next few years to come, we also recognize the ratcheting up of violent rhetoric on all sides, and do not wish to unnecessarily fuel those flames.

From a Christian perspective, the only authority that can use violence to challenge civic authority (the state) is civic authority, not rogue actors, self-declared “militias” or violent mobs. If civic authority fails to challenge unjust civic authority, we should consider this God’s choice. We should consider an unjust civic authority a righteous punishment on the land.

His works will not be counted as righteous, as surely as the work of the Assyrians and the Babylonians were not considered righteous in their favor. But the punishment they inflicted on Judah and Samaria was a righteous judgment on an unrighteous land.

We are not pacifists. Christ did tell us to buy a sword, and two swords were enough, In that spirit, we advocate people fighting civic authority that is seeking to come to kill them. We simply DO NOT advocate for violence as a means of replacing their authority.

David evaded Saul’s attempts to kill him, taking a whole retinue with him to do so. Whenever he had a chance to strike Saul, he refused. He would not use violence as a means of usurping civic authority outside of civic authority itself (which he lacked at the time).

We hope to grow our audience over the coming months, and we want to cultivate a new audience that has the spirit of the one we already have, a spirit of doing the hard work it takes to be self-stewards while under assault from factions that seek to aggressively kill that spirit in this land once and for all.

That audience already understands the nature of the enemies we face, enemies we are yet called to love, enemies we are called to invite to repentance and restoration (not perpetual condemnation). They no longer need any more shock and awe reminders of the depth and depravity of the crisis we face, nor will any but a very few of the progressives be the least bit moved or shocked into repentance by hearing the nature of their depravities plainly spoken.

The third major faction in this country is one I believe most of our readers belong to, and one I self-identify with, the Americanists. We are those not afraid to let our neighbors be wrong in public. We are those brave enough to allow our competition to beat us fairly and squarely.

Among the conservatives (the Not-Progressives) there are plenty of Americanists, and even among the progressives there are still a few Americanists not yet convinced the progressives ARE what we tell them they are.

I believe most Americanists are out of the party game altogether. They are mostly independents or people not even registered to vote. I am one of these people. I let my registration lapse and refused to renew it as I began to believe there were no “American” choices being offered. My non-registration is an act of protest against a voting system I have no faith in anymore.

This is the audience we are seeking to grow so we can expand our publication’s support.

This is the audience we think primarily represents the audiences we mostly already serve, Christian Americanists, Americanist “Independents,” and Christian conservatives.

Our analysis of the news will continue to come from the same perspective, Christian Americanist, and it will continue to have a prophetic perspective as well. The language, however, will mostly change to accommodate the new season we believe we have entered for the next handful of years (barring an unforeseen dramatic anomaly).

As a final note, I want to encourage our readers to visit our aggregation research site, mindfulintelligence.news. We have regular updates on the site, which include the blurbs you eventually see in our weekly publications, and some that don’t get selected as well.

We also archive our past reports and articles on the site.

This is the hub we will be using to build our audience through. This audience is grandfathered into the subscription package it has. The new audience will have different package deals offered. For instance, they will pay $22.95 a month to receive a monthly, quarterly, and yearly publication. They will not receive the weeklies or our four special reports like our legacy subscribers (you) do.

For now, people can still sign up for the $22.95 a month plan and receive the full slate of content you receive now, but that window will be closing soon. We will let you know a month before it closes.

If you want to gift a subscription for someone, now is the time to do it.

We will see you again on April 10 for our Quarterly Report. Until then, have a wonderful and fulfilling Passion Week and Easter Holiday.

And That’s the Bottom Line!
